Course description:
The purpose of this course is to facilitate a critical understanding of the multiple social, cultural, political, and economic positions of women in the Third World. We will look at a variety of topics including: colonialism, post-colonialism, feminist theories of development, paid and unpaid labor, globalization, feminism, and women’s bodies as economy, politics, and culture.

Learning goals ~ By the end of the course you should:
1) Understand the meaning of gender and the gendered division of labor.
2) Be able to think critically about terms like “Third World” and “development.”
3) Understand the connections between politics, economy, and culture as manifest in and on women’s lives and bodies.
4) Understand some of the ways women challenge political, social, cultural, and economic obstacles with which they are confronted.
5) Understand the relationships between First and Third World economies and policies, particularly as experienced by women.
6) Be a stronger and more capable writer and communicator, with solid analytical skills.

Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences learning objectives:
1) Critical and Creative Thinking
2) Interdisciplinary Research and Inquiry
3) Writing and Communication
4) Collaboration and Shared Leadership

Evaluation and grading:

Reading and active contribution: 10%
Section write-ups: 30%
Take home midterm: 30%
Take home final: 30%
Total: 100%

Reading and active contribution (10%): Careful reading of the assigned materials and active contribution are fundamental to the success of this class. You will be expected to come to class, on time, with reading done, prepared to thoughtfully, and respectfully discuss the material. We will have in-class small group exercises and, if necessary, pop quizzes; your performance on these will be factored into your contribution grade. Suffice it to say, regular attendance is necessary to contribute in a meaningful manner. Your contribution grade will be based on: 1) thoughtful discussion of the readings, 2) in class activities, 3) pop quizzes, and 4) self-assessment.

Section write-ups (30% of your grade): At the end of four of the six sections you will be expected to turn in a 2-page paper addressing a specific question handed out at the beginning of that section. Papers should: 1) Answer the question clearly and directly, 2) demonstrate you did and understood the readings, and 3) be well written: this means grammatically correct and clearly organized. Papers are due at the beginning of class on: Mon April 7, Mon April 21, Mon May 19, and Mon June 2.

Take home midterm (30% of your grade): This exam will consist of two, 2-3 page essays. Questions will come from the course material covered in sections one, two, and three. You will be expected to write clear, analytical, well-organized essays, which rely on the course content. Midterm questions are due at the beginning of class on Mon May 5.

Take home final (30% of your grade): This exam will be structured like the midterm but questions will come from the course material covered in the remaining sections of the course. Final exams are due in my office (Uw1-142) by 10:30 am on Mon June 9.

Policies:

- Classroom conduct and respect for diversity: Diverse backgrounds, embodiments and experiences are essential to the critical thinking endeavor at the heart of university education. In IAS and at UW Bothell, students are expected to: 1) Respect individual differences which may include, but are not limited to, age, cultural background, disability, ethnicity, family status, gender presentation, immigration status, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and veteran status. 2) Engage respectfully in discussion of diverse worldviews and ideologies embedded in course readings, presentations, and artifacts, including those course materials that are at odds with personal beliefs and values.
  - Students seeking support around these issues can find more information and resources at http://www.uwb.edu/diversity.

- Disability accommodation: UW Bothell provides individuals with disabilities reasonable accommodations to participate in education programs, activities, and services. Students with disabilities requiring accommodation to participate in class activities or to meet course requirements should contact the Disability Resources for Students (DRS) at (425) 352-5307. For further information on UW Bothell policy on accommodation, please consult: http://www.uwb.edu/studentsservices/drs. If you have a letter from DRS indicating that you require accommodations, please provide me with a copy as soon as possible so I can make necessary arrangements.

- Professional email exchange: Nasty, disrespectful emails are considered a violation of student conduct. You should never send a professor an email which contains wording you would not say in person. Additionally, by law, professors cannot discuss grades via email so you must visit me during office hours to discuss grade related concerns.

- Classroom distractions: Laptops and all other electronic devices must be turned off and put away during class unless otherwise indicated by me. Exceptions will be made for people with disabilities or family responsibilities.

- Attendance policy: Since participation is vital for a successful experience, please arrive on time for class. Late arrivals and early departures interrupt our in-progress discussions. If you must miss a class session, it is your responsibility to get the notes from someone and check Canvas for relevant handouts and announcements. In-class exercises cannot be made up.

- Check your email and Canvas announcement page daily: If your UW email address is not your main one please go into MyUW and Canvas and set your account to forward your UW email to your primary email account.

- Assignment format: All assignments must be double-spaced, 1-inch size margins, pages numbered, stapled, and no smaller than 11-point font size.

- Late assignments: Unless otherwise noted, all assignments are due at the BEGINNING of class. Section write-ups and midterm exam will be graded down by ONE-HALF of a letter grade for every day they are late. “Late” begins at 3:31 pm on the due date. I will waive the penalty in the case of legitimate, documented emergency. I will not accept your assignment more than one class past its’ due date and final exams will not be accepted late.

- Absence the day an assignment is due: If you are not in class the day an assignment is due it is your responsibility to submit it to the Canvas discussion board forum called “missing class assignments” by 3:30 pm the day it is due so I can see you did it on time. You must also bring me a hard copy when you return to class. If I do not receive the hard copy by one class after the due date it will become an automatic zero. If you are not able to hand deliver your final exam it is your responsibility to make sure someone delivers it for you.
• Grade discrepancies: Except in cases of miscalculation or other error, your course grade is final and non-negotiable. You MUST keep all graded material until you have received your final grades. If there are any grade discrepancies at the end of the quarter, and you are missing any of your graded originals I will not recalculate your grade. You should feel free to come discuss your grades with me throughout the quarter to gather feedback for future assignments.

• Incompletes: University rules state that “an incomplete is given only when the student has been in attendance and has done satisfactory work until within two weeks at the end of the quarter and has furnished proof satisfactory to the instructor that the work cannot be completed because of illness or other circumstances beyond the student’s control.”

• Academic integrity: Please be aware that any act of plagiarism or academic dishonesty will result in a grade of ZERO for the assignment in question, and may result in a FAILING GRADE FOR THE ENTIRE COURSE. Per University policy, all allegations of plagiarism and academic dishonesty are subject to formal investigation and possible sanction by the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.
